From The De- So- Late Areas . . .

The Student Missionary Fellowship (SMF) is going out to desolate areas of the world, sharing the light of the Gospel. The students involved in this active group go to many different countries around the world and share the gospel by a number of various evangelism methods.

The light of the Gospel is the central idea of SMF, and being the "light of the world" is their central purpose. When asked what being a light is, Jeff Brown, President of SMF, replied, "it is going out of our comfort zone, getting out of NWC, our own little kingdom, and choosing to be a testimony before the world. The Bible says we're called to be the light of the World, and going out is being a light."

... To The D A R K Of The Night

As night falls on a Friday at Northwestern, a team of Networks volunteers prepares to go out into the night. This group gathers each weekend to go into the inner city to establish a relationship with some of the people who live there.

Through these relationships, the Network teams will then attempt to share the light of the Gospel with these people. Through prayer and dedication, this team is making a difference close to home, night by night, person by person.

NWC Students Living In . . .

Where would we be without light? In the darkness, right? Without even thinking about it, we do many things using light fixtures, daylight, candlelight, and even moonlight.

Light is something that we take for granted and actually don't even realize that we use as much as we do. What else can we use an endless supply of and not have to pay for to use it?

Students study by sunlight whether it's in our dorms, at home, or in the gazebo in the Nazareth's courtyard, we use light frequently.

Sunlight is something that God has given us an endless supply of. Obviously He thought that it was important, He created it on the first day of creation!

When God first uttered the words, "Let there be light!", what an awesome sight it must have been when darkness was all that was beforehand. To fully appreciate light, maybe you would have to close your eyes and experience the cold darkness that would surround us without God's gift of light.

There have been other forms of "lights" that are used such as candlelights, flashlights, and light bulbs which people have invented over the ages. Nothing, though, can compare to God's gift of light through Jesus Christ his Son.

Next time you walk in the sunlight, sit in the daylight, use a flashlight, twist in a light bulb — think of who allowed you to endlessly use that resource!

TOP TEN THINGS TO DO BY LIGHT

1. Read Bible for Survey class by lamplight
2. Sit in gazebo out in Nazareth courtyard
3. Sit by Maranatha's fountain during the middle of the day and watch the girls/guys go by
4. Cram for grueling tests by lamplight
5. Sun bathe by sunlight
6. Write letters underneath bed covers by flashlight
7. Eat in the sunlight on Riley's lawn
8. Watch football or soccer games by daylight
9. Take long walks by moonlight
10. Roast marshmallows by candlelight

We're In The Dark Now But . . .

With our changing world of technology and tastes, it is hard to predict exactly what the new decade will bring. During the past decade we have seen advances in medicine and technology. With the coming decade, who knows what advances may be made. We can now transplant the human heart successfully, so what is next in the 90's?

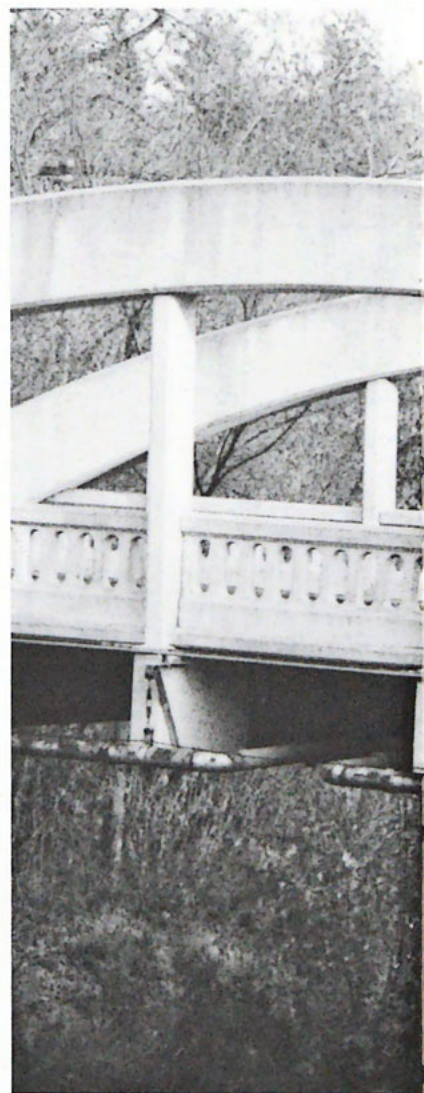

Technology has made Americans change their lifestyles as well. The 80's brought us video games, electronic cars, personal computers, and hundreds of other electronic devices. Even the dictionary has been computerized, and driving your car can be noisy with "talking" cars that tell you what is going on in your car.

This technology has reached the entertainment business as well, with computerized games such as "Nintendo", and movies with special effects such as "E.T." and the more recent "Who Framed Roger Rabbit".

Besides technology, politics have been greatly changing as well. Ronald Reagan was President for the majority of the 80's, but we are now beginning a new decade under the leadership of George Bush. There have been changes in laws and policies to fight the problems of America. These have been a declining education, unemployment, drug use, teenage problems such as pregnancy and suicide, and many more.

Will the 90's change these things or will America continue to deteriorate? Fortunately more people have made efforts to help out their fellow man. There have been numerous groups that have gotten together to fight world hunger, drunk driving, child abuse, and almost any other cause you can think of. Will these groups continue to grow in the 90's or will there be a decline?

There are still a lot of unanswered questions about the 90's. We will not know the answers to these until we are in the midst of the 90's. We can, however, trust our God that our lives are in His hands, and continue to live for Christ into the new decade.

Juniors

The good, the bad, and the clueless

They may not be Clint Eastwood, but juniors Greg Seeger, Mike Verley, and Randy Stensgard do their best imitations for the camera.

What is Greg smiling about? When did Mike grow a mustache? And what is Randy looking at? Only they could know!

Their expressions clearly represent the NWC junior class — the Good, the Bad, and the Clueless.

Sophomores

Studies are driving this man crazy!

Nine out of ten scientists at Northwestern College have proven that too much studying can shove a person over the edge. Sophomore Joe Smith is a living example of this proven theory.

How much studying is suggested? The time allotted for studying should be in direct proportion to the amount of time spent eating, socializing, and sleeping during a regular school day. Any more studying could drive the student body over the edge!

Just take it from Joe Smith — he's living proof of what can happen from excessive study habits.

Freshmen

Which Way to Riley Hall?

Just when you thought that the regular freshmen were looking younger and younger . . . post-secondary students were admitted into NWC. Popular belief has it that recent post-secondary students have gotten as young as 15 years of age.

Upperclassmen can now be 16 or 17 years old and the "normal" senior graduate will seem ancient in comparison.

So, beware! Your next tutor for Algebra could possibly be as old as your younger sister at home in high school.

Leadership Ablaze

Resident Assistants . . . Assistant Resident Directors . . . Resident Directors . . . Not only do they have a passion for God, but their leadership qualities are made known through their service to others. Leadership is more than just taking charge and that is obvious in the lives of our RAs, ARDs and RDs. In God's Word we are given an example of a great leader guiding his people with skillful hands according to the integrity of his heart (Psalm 78:72). This was a goal set before them as leaders.

The criteria for filling the positions of RA, ARD and RD is demanding. Expectations are high in the areas of academic achievements, social skills, and spiritual life. It has been said that those who fill these positions are the "cream of the crop."

The RDs' position is not that of a disciplinarian but rather that of an encourager to fellow students and staff. Sure they deal with the problems but more importantly they want to help students to grow in their lives emotionally, physically, academically, and spiritually. Development of the total individual is important.

The ARD is a new position on campus this year. Its purpose is to free up some of the RDs' time for other things. This years ARDs were RAs last year who decided to put their experience to good use in a new way this past year. They put in about 20 hours a week helping out the RDs, supporting the RAs, and spending a lot of time in personal contact with the students. These behind-the-scene servants have encouraged countless people and made many things possible through their hard work and dedication.

The RAs' position is very relational. The philosophy they are taught is to make sure that all students feel at home and have a friend. Their job includes a lot of one on one contact with students. They are to exemplify a godly lifestyle in all areas and challenge the growth of the students on their floors.

The RAs, ARDs, and RDs look upon their positions as ministries rather than just jobs. Their servant attitudes and quality leadership can be an encouragement to us all!

Soldiers Of The Light

As Christians we are warriors for the cause of Jesus Christ. There is a battle to be fought and eventually we will win. Too often we are equipped for the spiritual battle yet never set foot on the fighting grounds. Here at Northwestern, classes prepared us with the head knowledge so that we were able to take action, but the decision had to be made to do so. Throughout the year there were many opportunities to make a difference for the cause of Jesus Christ and many took advantage of these. From personal spiritual growth and being an example to taking on the responsibility of a leader — we made a difference for Christ and can continue to do so throughout the passing of time!

Above: A quiet time away from the business of life to reflect on God is essential to keep a proper perspective on things.

Melanie Bocken, Diane Tollefson, and Dawn Parks. These students had the privilege of journeying to the Promised Land during the summer of 1989 and studying at the Institute of Holy Land Studies under the direction of Dr. Johnson.

Above: Many weekly Bible studies gave students a chance to learn and grow together. After the meetings were times of fellowship, sharing, and encouragement.

Top left: Laana Larson is one of the many students who was involved in leading a church youth group. Laana has a heart for the junior high age group, believing it is a critical age in the nurturing of spiritual growth.

Left: A new and welcomed addition to chapel this year was the worship team. They led the student body in singing praises to our God. It was a time to shift our focus from ourselves to God. John Geerdes, the drummer of the band, thought it was great to jam for Jesus.

Running With A Vision!

The goals of the 1989-1990 NWSA (Northwestern Student Association), according to John Anderson (NWSA President), were to continue the quality of event planning and student services started the previous year. Each banquet was a time of enjoyment and fun, not just another special meal in the Blue Room. The caliber of student and Christian artist concerts was excellent. The Imperials appeared for Homecoming, Steve Camp for the Youth Conference, and Kim Boyce for the Spring Concert, among others.

Another goal was realized in the hours of work the NWSA council put in to provide open dorms over the holidays. They were an active voice in the making and improving of school policies that affected students, "We wanted to be the communicative link between the Administration and the students," said Anderson.

Darcy's TLC Improves Nest

One of the most successful accomplishments of this year's NWSA was the Eagle's Nest. Darcy Johnson was the manager this year and according to Anderson it was her motivation, drive, and long hours that made the Nest actually start turning a profit. There were new snack items, more reasonable prices than last year, and better, faster service. Thanks Darcy!

Rays Of Hope Amidst The Storm

"I call my mom or talk to my favorite buddy Kristen."
Jill Zasadny, Sophomore.

Stress . . . it is practically synonymous with school. There's the pressure to achieve good grades, to socialize with friends, to spend time with family, to invest time in church, and the list continues. What does one do when the pressure and stress get so high? Different people deal with it in different ways such as taking a long nap, pigging out, cleaning things inside and out, doing aerobics, hiding out for awhile, or even running just one more mile. It's not always easy to remember what Paul says in Romans 5:3-5, "And not only this, but we also exalt in our tribulations, knowing that tribulation brings about perseverance; and perseverance, proven character, and proven character, hope; and hope does not disappoint, because the love of God has been poured out within our hearts through the Holy Spirit who was given to us." So continue to persevere and let that godly character shine through as you continue to trust God in all things!

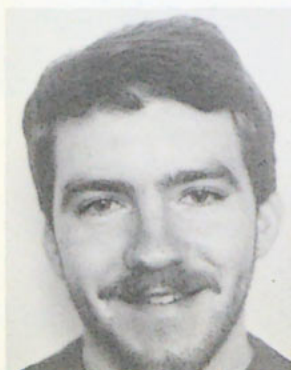

Above: Joe Smith uses his talent of painting to ease the tension of overwhelming stress. Nice work!

"I reflect on past Scripture studies to find historical and present application."
Tim Myers, Junior.

"I like to give an old friend a call to talk and laugh about old times. The key is to laugh!"
Lisa Shaffer, Senior.

"I don't worry about it, I laugh and have a good time."

"It depends on the situation, but I'll usually sit down and read a Psalm."

"I go for a long drive in my Malibu."

"I either sing or pray — both of them help me to put things back in their proper perspective."

"You want me to be honest, right? I go shopping and spend time with friends."
Jon Goodrich, Senior.

"I sit down and organize things, then I read a good book from cover to cover."
Kathy Grady, Sophomore.

Above: Robyn McRunnel deals with the stress (or should one say escapes it) in her life by getting off campus and going shopping. Lookout Rosedale!

Above: In order to regroup her thoughts and get a better perspective on things, Stephanie Swanson knows that going for a walk is best for her.

Above: Paul Johnson does have his serious moments and when things get overwhelming it helps him most to take the time to think things through to see how it is all going to fit together.

No comment as he was busy dealing with the stress in his life.
Kirk Nelson, Junior

"I usually go and relax over at my boyfriend's apartment."
Diane Tremper, Senior.

"I get off campus and away from school in general. Nothing in particular ... maybe a basketball game."
Lance Grush, Sophomore.

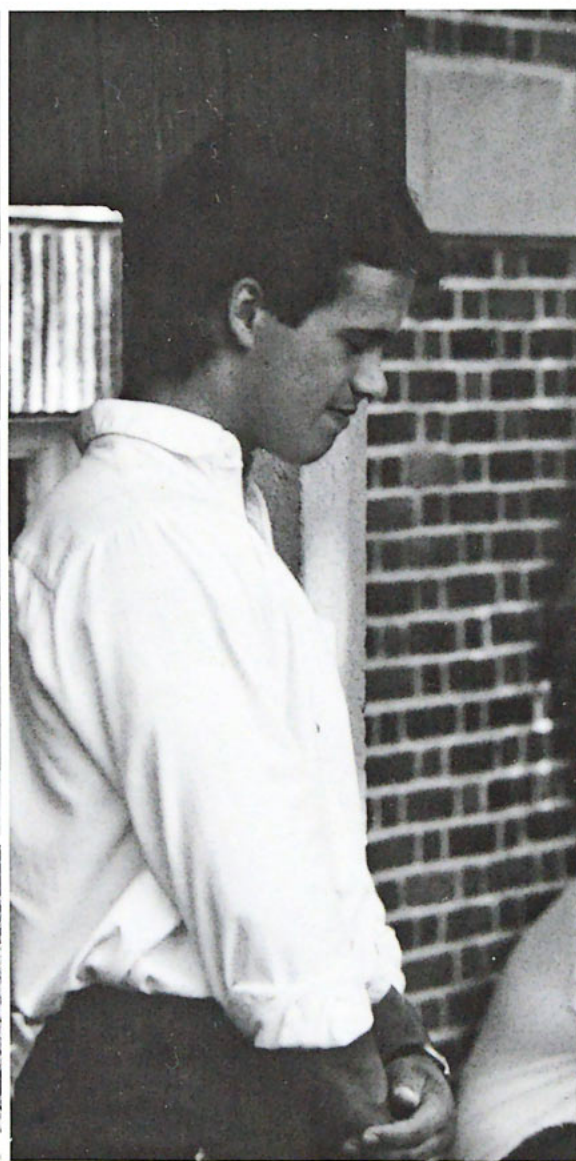

"I swim because I can cry in the pool and nobody know the difference."
Ruth Kiser, Freshman.
